Heron: Cat About Town Notorious Gossip

Six-year-old Phyllis (at the breakfast table): "Oh, I had such a funny dream last night."
Daddy: "What was it?"
Phyllis: "Well, you ought to know, you were in it."

Then there's the one about the new shavetail who had his platoon marching away from him. The men had gone some distance and were headed straight for an embankment, and the second lieutenant was speechless. At last the regular army sergeant instructor yelled to the new officer:
"Say something, if it's only good-by!"

Sonny: "Mother, we're going to play elephants at the zoo and we want you to help us."
Mother: "What on earth can I do?"
Sonny: "You can be the lady who gives them peanuts and candy."

Reporter: "Why all the gloom?"
Editor: "I received a letter yesterday informing me that I was the beneficiary of a large bequest; and in the rush, I replied, 'Your contribution is returned with thanks.'"

Peck: "My views on bringing up the family are—"

Mrs. Peck: "Never mind, your views. I'll bring up the family. You go and bring up the coal."

"Mother," exclaimed little Jane, "they're going to teach us domestic science at school now."

"Do you mean domestic science?" asked her mother.

"There is a bare hope," interrupted father, "that our little Jane means what she says."

Mr. Edward Lockwood, of Canton, told the following amusing story when speaking at a dinner at the Chinese Merchants' Club on Saturday night.

There was a doctor in Canton who was a brain specialist and was very successful with operations on people who had trouble with their brains. One patient, however, after his brain had been removed and taken to another room for examination, came out of the anaesthetic and put his skull back and walked out. Meanwhile the doctor had the brain and searched frantically for his patient but could not find him. The doctor eventually found him in one of the leading colleges in Shanghai where he was a professor!

AUGUST BANK HOLIDAY

Gloomy Weather Prospects

HEAVY TRAFFIC BOOKINGS

London, Aug. 1.

Weather prospects for the August Bank Holiday week-end are not very favourable though some sunny intervals are forecast.

However, the volume of holiday traffic appears to be unaffected and gives promise once again to exceed the records of previous years.

A feature is the large amount of long distance traffic and the heavy demand for sleeping accommodation on night expresses. Thirty thousand seat bookings for to-day for trains leaving Waterloo Station alone are reported by the Southern Railway.

Over the whole country about two thousand extra trains are being run.

Figures of air traffic during the week-end are expected to show a notable rise over last year—

IRAQ PIPE LINE ON FIRE

Pierced By Arab Bullets

PROMPT ACTION

Jerusalem, Aug. 1.

A huge conflagration has broken out on the Transjordan side of Jordan River as the result of a holding of the Iraq petroleum pipe line, setting alight the oil gushing therefrom.

The outrage is thought to be the work of Palestinian Arabs who recently repeated attacks on the pipe line, necessitating the decision only yesterday to send 500 British soldiers to Amman to reinforce the pipe line patrol.

Later: Normal working of the Iraq pipe line has been resumed. An official of the Iraq Petroleum Company, interviewed by Reuters, said the line was pierced by three bullets, but the fire was soon extinguished.

TO GET RID OF STOMACH TROUBLES

An English Doctor writes:—

"I find that 'Bisurated' Magnesia taken after most of my meals is the only thing that keeps me free from pain and discomfort, and I take it regularly. I often prescribe it for my patients, and have had very good results."

(Signed) Dr. H. G. M.A., M.R.C.S., L.R.C.P.

THE English doctor is the most conservative medical man in the world, and when he not only recommends but personally uses a remedy there can be no more convincing proof of its efficacy. This doctor is but one of many who constantly advise the use of 'Bisurated' Magnesia in all cases of indigestion. Most stomach troubles are caused by acidity, and the reason why 'Bisurated' Magnesia gives quick relief is that it instantly neutralises excess acid and soothes, heals and strengthens the inflamed stomach lining. Nothing could be simpler, safer or surer. If you suffer with indigestion or stomach disorder of any kind put your faith in European science and make an end of your troubles by taking 'Bisurated' Magnesia after eating or whenever pain is felt.

HOW BRITAIN SHOWED HER NAVAL STRENGTH IN MEDITERRANEAN

London, July 10.
In October last year when the sanctions crisis blew up between this country and Italy, the British Mediterranean Fleet at its normal strength comprised the following ships:

The 1st Battle Squadron (Queen Elizabeth, Resolution, Revenge, Valiant and Barham).
1st Cruiser Squadron (four heavy cruisers).
The 3rd Cruiser Squadron (four light cruisers).
One aircraft carrier (Glorious).
The 1st, 3rd and 4th Destroyer Flotillas (28 destroyers).
The 1st Submarine Flotilla (eight submarines).

During November a large number of additional ships shown in the Navy List as temporarily detached from stations may be assumed to have joined the powerful naval concentration in the Eastern Mediterranean.

FAR AFIELD

From the Home Fleet came the aircraft-carrier Courageous, the 18 vessels of the Second and Fifth Destroyer Flotillas and the Second Submarine Flotilla (six submarines).
In addition, the aircraft-carrier Pegasus came out from the Nile and eight mine-sweepers from the Fishery Protection Flotilla at Portland.

Other units from even further afield—the heavy cruisers Berwick from China, and Exeter and Ajax from the America and West Indies stations, four destroyers, four submarines and a minelayer—were also brought from China, and Australia sent back the heavy cruiser Sussex from her waters.

The light cruisers Coventry and Curlew, newly remodelled as floating aircraft batteries, were also despatched.

There were further increases in December.

The Australian Government loaned their light cruiser Sydney and New Zealand her sister ship Diomedes for imperial service, and a new destroyer flotilla of 11 ships, the 19th, was formed of the ships on the spot, this making six destroyer flotillas in all with the Mediterranean Fleet.

After this the strength of the fleet remained more or less established.

The battleships Resolution and Revenge returned home to refit, their places being taken by the battle cruisers Renown and Hood; the latter, however, did not stay long.

SITUATION EASED

The aircraft-carrier Courageous also returned home, and was not replaced.

In February, 1936, three more mine-sweepers went out from Portland, and a fourth from the China Station.

These were the last additions to the Mediterranean fleet, the situation having considerably eased by this date.

Reductions in the command have, in fact, already begun.

The New Zealand light cruiser at the Nile is on reduced complement, the 19th Destroyer Flotilla no longer exists as such, and the ships comprising it have rejoined their original formations.

Before long, our great Armada in the Eastern Mediterranean after nine months' service, will have shrunk once again to a size only a little above what it was before the sanctions crisis brought it into being.

LORD DERBY WARNS

"One Of Most Critical Times In Our History"

London, July 10.
"This is truly 'one of the most critical times in our history, and I think that people in the streets do not realise how critical it is," said Lord Derby yesterday at a reception he gave to members of the United Associations of Great Britain and France at the Institut Français, South Kensington, London.

Lord Derby, who is president of the United Association, emphasised the importance of fostering understanding between Britain and France.

He said that he had never wished to think that Britain and France should put themselves in a position which was apart from the rest of the world. The wish of the United Associations was to draw into their friendship all the other nations.

POSTHUMOUS DECORATIONS

The King Hands V.C. To Widow Of Captain Meynell

"SET A FINE EXAMPLE TO HIS MEN"

London, July 14.

A woman received a Victoria Cross from the hands of the King at an investiture at Buckingham Palace to-day.

She is Mrs. Meynell, widow of Captain Godfrey Meynell, of the 5th Battalion (Queen Victoria's Own Corps of Guides) 12th Frontier Force Regiment, Indian Army, who won the Victoria Cross for conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty on the Indian frontier in September last year.

An official read an account of Captain Meynell's valour.

He and his 30 men were surrounded by a force of Mohmand tribesmen, vastly superior in numbers. Captain Meynell was mortally wounded, and all his men were either killed or wounded.

Throughout the action Captain Meynell endeavoured by all means to communicate the situation to headquarters, and encouraged his men to fight with him to the last. By so doing he inflicted on the enemy very heavy casualties, which prevented them from exploiting their success.

The official account ended:

"The fine example Captain Meynell set to his men, coupled with his determination to hold the position to the last, maintained the traditions of the Army, and reflects the highest credit on the fallen officer and his comrades."

The King shook hands with Mrs. Meynell, congratulated her on her husband's bravery and offered her his sympathy.

DR. MELLY'S MOTHER

Another woman who received a posthumous decoration was Mrs. Melly, mother of Dr. Andre Melly, who died from wounds in Abyssinia.

Mrs. Melly was given the Albert Medal in gold awarded to her son in recognition of the conspicuous gallantry which he displayed during the disorders in Addis Ababa last May in his efforts to rescue British and other foreign nationals and wounded Abyssinians.

Lieutenant John Cowley, of the Royal Engineers, received the Albert Medal for gallantry during the Quetta earthquake. He was the first to start relief work at the civil hospital after the walls and roof had collapsed.

He lifted many men in his arms, regardless of the warning that they were suffering from all manner of diseases. Had it not been for his work very many fewer men would have been saved alive.

Leading Aircraftman Norman Bredon, of the R.A.F., was presented with the medal of the Order of the British Empire for his bravery in the recent earthquake in Baluchistan. Although himself badly injured, having a cracked rib and collarbone, he remained until late in the day attending injured airmen in a dressing station.

Altogether about 200 men and women received the insignia of decorations and honours conferred on them in the Birthday Honours List.

PALESTINE FINE REFUTED

Jerusalem, July 31.

The High Court here refuted the collective fine of £5,000 imposed on the citizens of Gaza on the grounds that neighbouring railway and telephone communications had been cut.

These acts of vandalism were blamed upon Arab insurgents. The Chief Justice emphasised that the High Commissioner, General Sir Arthur Wauchope, had exceeded his authority in enacting collective fines.

Italy's readiness in principle to attend the Five Locarno Powers' Conference was announced in an official declaration by Foreign Minister Count Ciano, which declaration also expresses the view that the Italian Government would think it useful if the exchange of views already took place before the Conference through the diplomatic channels.

WHEN THE KING DRIVES TO HIS CORONATION

Extended Route Suggested

ACROSS THE BRIDGES

London, July 16.

The question has been raised of a longer route for the Royal procession when King Edward goes to and from Westminster Abbey for his Coronation on May 12 next. Representations are to be made to the Coronation Committee, which has been set up that such an extension would be of great benefit to the crowds that will want to see the King.

One important fact which has to be considered is the great strain which the long ceremonial imposes on the King. It is probable that there will be little departure from precedent, even if it is not exactly followed.

The experience at King George's funeral, when there was considerable congestion on the four-miles' route to Paddington, has prompted alternative suggestions for the Coronation.

SOUTH LONDON PROCESSION

One is that the King should drive from the Abbey over Westminster Bridge, through part of South London, over London Bridge to the City, and thence via Fleet-street and the Strand to rejoin at Trafalgar-square the route to Piccadilly and the Palace.

Another suggestion is that the King should drive up Regent-street, along Oxford-street and down Park-lane to Hyde Park Corner.

CONFLICTING CLAIMS

Spanish Civil War Reports

London, July 31.

While the Spanish insurgents claim to have reached a point only eleven miles from Madrid, the Government claims that the rebel forces have been routed thirty-five miles from the capital, to the west, with a loss of 63 dead and a number of prisoners, as well as a large quantity of war materials.

The Government, however, has decreed the immediate mobilisation of men of the 1936 class how on leave and the men of the 1934 class in reserve in Catalonia and the eastern seaboard provinces.

A number of persons, believed to be foreigners, have been arrested in Madrid on the charge of spreading false reports to the effect that the garrison at Valencia had revolted.

Meanwhile, the insurgents are said to be massing thousands of troops for a big attack on San Sebastian.

From Rabat, Morocco, comes the report that fourteen aeroplanes of the same type as the Italian plane which crashed in Algeria yesterday, have landed at Melilla, which is one of the insurgent army's bases.

Gibraltar reports that a Spanish Government flying boat, which had been bombing Algiers during the morning, was forced to seek landing in a disabled condition as a result of hits by rebel gunfire. The plane finally landed in British waters, after having narrowly missed the British Consulate at Algiers with some of its bombs, and the crew of three was brought ashore by a harbour launch.

Feeling "Run Down?"

Just suppose that right now you were talking to a physician.

YOU would have to confess to him that somehow you seem to tire very quickly nowadays; that your energy is gone and that now and then you feel jumpy and irritated.

"My dear man!" he would not doubt say, "look at the symptoms logically. Yours is a clear case of strained nerves. We need not go into how you got that way. The climate, hard and nervous work, late nights, they can all be to blame—but you want to know how to become your old self again. Why not start taking Sanatogen—it's really great stuff! It's made just for people like you, and I know from long experience that it will do you a lot of good. You have asked too much from your nerves, and with Sanatogen you replace the lost energy quickly."

Over 25,000 physicians are of the opinion that taking Sanatogen is the easy and logical way back to real health and vitality. Why not give Sanatogen a trial? Every chemist sells it. Start taking it now, then you will soon notice its remarkable influence on your health and vitality.

GENTLEMEN AND PLAYERS AT CRICKET

ENGLAND'S TEAM FOR AUSTRALIA.

London, July 13. The Gentlemen and Players match, which is due to begin on Wednesday at Lord's, was in days gone by regarded as a means of compliment to the most successful amateur and professional cricketers of the season. Gradually it has begun to bear more and more the appearance of a trial match, and this year it is little more than an examination whether a particular player is worth his passage money to Australia this winter, writes a correspondent.

The event in consequence has suffered in its original purpose and pleasure, and has increased in seriousness. Consideration of the eventual composition of England's team, which is a matter of general interest, and an appreciation of the joys of what should be the most joyful cricket match, in the year, somehow have to be reconciled, and in any case it can be said that two excellent sides have been chosen for the game, which deserves to attract a big crowd.

LACK OF VARIETY

It is easy to say that the Gentlemen's bowling lacks variety, with two fast bowlers (Allen and Barnes), four right-handed medium-paced bowlers (Wyatt, Holmes, Stephenson, and Mitchell-Innes), and one leg-break bowler (Brown), but if some clever man could say where other suitable bowlers are to be found he would deserve to be made an honorary life member of M.C.C. Their batting, on the other hand, even against what will undoubtedly be strong professional bowling, is encouraging with Wyatt Mitchell-Innes to start the innings, followed by Melville, Turnbull, Holmes, Pearce, and Allen. But with all due respect it pales in comparison with what the Players will be able to offer—Barnett, Gimblett, Hammond, Leyland, Fishlock, and Hardstaff (something like that order)—not to mention Verity, who, by refusing to get out on so many occasions, has established himself fourth in the batting averages.

For their bowling they rely upon Corpson, Gover, Verity, and Slinfield, a combination which may well be sufficient for the occasion. One matter of great interest will be the form of the two wicket-keepers, Levett and McCorkel, of whom so many kind things have been said by those who have played with them this season. If a reward for sheer merit during the last two months were to be paid we might reasonably have expected to see either Wellard, Fagg, or Townsend in the Players' side, and it was the opinion of many that Yardley, by his display in the University match, had earned the last place in the Gentlemen's team.

As it is, it seems extremely doubtful whether the selectors, when they come to make their choice of the players to go to Australia, will go far beyond those taking part in this match; Mitchell, of Yorkshire, perhaps because he is the best fieldman in the country, and also maybe James Langridge, who has a reputation for reliability. I can hardly believe that Duckworth has fallen from his position as wicketkeeper-in-chief.

The question of captaincy seems to have been finally settled, but to the very end, until pencils are worn out with the scribbling of experimental combinations, there must be a doubt as to the opening pair of batsmen. Gimblett's stock in that respect stands at the moment very high. Nor is there as yet any clear evidence pointing to who shall start the bowling with Allen. The question of Larwood does not bear discussion; it is too lamentable even to think about. It is all very well to say that either Hammond or Wyatt can open the bowling, but there were many who regard Wyatt as an inappropriate feature for the big occasion. All our troubles and fears, let us hope, will soon be solved and many of our guesses will be found sadly wanting when the selectors make up their mind in what is obviously a difficult situation, for England's resources are admittedly slender.

HOPE FRUSTRATED

Hopes of an early amateur revival on the form shown in recent University matches are not encouraging. It is never wise, nor fair, to compare a contemporary University match with any of its predecessors—more especially when

POET'S WIDOW

Decides To Leave Britain

£120 PENSION FOR LADY WATSON

London, July 14. The most interesting feature of the Civil List pensions for the year, which were made known yesterday, is the grant of a pension of £120 to Lady Watson, the widow of the noted poet, Sir William Watson, who died nearly a year ago.

Lady Watson, it is understood, has decided to emigrate to South Africa. She will leave England on August 22 with her two daughters.

The decision to leave Britain was made several weeks ago, when Lady Watson was informed in confidence of the amount of the Civil List pension awarded to her.

The pension of £120 a year has been granted in recognition of the services rendered to literature, by her husband. However, in Lady Watson's view it is not sufficient to enable her and her daughters to live properly in this country, as their only other income is extremely small.

Lady Watson, it is recalled, has often expressed her determination, if it were ever possible, to take her daughters to a country where they would be able to embark upon a fresh life. In her view, Britain failed to appreciate the genius of her husband.

Marked out by Mr. Gladstone for the position of Poet Laureate, Sir William died practically unknown by the younger generation and almost in a state of poverty. As he lay dying, Sir William turned to his devoted wife and said sorrowfully but without bitterness, "England does not want my work."

While he was confined to bed a volume of his best works was published, but it failed to appeal to the public. In order that he should not know Lady Watson herself bought nearly all the books that were on sale.

GREIFFENHAGEN'S WIDOW

During the "ministry" he was granted a Civil List pension of £100 a year. He was knighted in 1917. The generosity of his friends and admirers saved him at a time when he lay ill at Bath. A testimonial fund was started and over £3000 was raised to help the stricken poet.

Pensions are also given to Mr. Henry A. Pegram, R.A. (£120), and to Sir Philip Ben Greet, the actor (£120), the latter of whom died two months ago—two months after the date of the grant.

Mrs. Beatrice Mary Greiffenhagen is given a pension of £100 in recognition of the services rendered by her husband, the late Maurice Greiffenhagen, R.A., to art.

Miss Rachel Mary Fleming is granted £80 in recognition of her services to anthropology and geography.

Maurice Greiffenhagen was a Royal Academician who died in 1931 at the age of 89. He was a portrait and a notable designer of posters, and in his early days did much black and white work for the press. From 1904 he was for some time head master of the life department in the Glasgow School of Art.

the greatest years are taken as an example—but it was obvious to all who were at Lord's this year that the game did lack quality. How good Cambridge actually were it is impossible to say, because if the truth be told Oxford were indeed poor. Cambridge had an appearance of balance with many good batsmen, some attack in their bowling, and the excellence of their fielding was universally granted. Oxford certainly were most unlucky to lose Kimpton just before the match, but for all that there was a general lack of thrust in the team which prevented them from being a winning side.

Now, with the peak of the season reached, the counties for the last six hard weeks settle down in earnest to settle the matter of the championship. Derbyshire, with their solid and able all-round team; Kent, who seem to be able to change their personnel from match to match and yet win games; Yorkshire, not so overpoweringly strong as usual, but still very dangerous; and Nottinghamshire, with their magnificent pair of bowlers, all have equal chances.

It may in the end depend on the weather, one of the most important of all factors in the game of cricket.

THE LATEST IN WARSHIPS

New Torpedo Boats

SEAGOING VESSELS OF 50 M.P.H

London, July 17.

Hidden away in an estuary of the River Blackwater, a few miles inland from Clacton, there was in 1918 a secret naval base. It was the home of the coastal motorboats, frail, 40-knot torpedo-droppers, depth-charge throwers, and smoke-makers. The coastal motorboats came twice into prominence during the war years, once in the Zeebrugge operations and later in the attack on the Bolshe-vist ships at Kronstadt. Two years after the war ended the secret base at Osea Island was still in being and there were plenty of naval officers who foresaw a development of the coastal motorboat. Then the Admiralty closed the place down, the boats were scrapped, and to all appearance
the idea of the high-speed torpedo-dropper was jettisoned.
Some foreign Powers continued to experiment with the type; a few were built for the minor navies by British firms who specialised in the design. But as far as the Royal Navy was concerned there appeared to be no further interest in the idea.

The appearance was illusory.
What had happened was that the Admiralty had decided that the type, as it existed, was too frail to be of any real importance.
The word "coastal" in its title explains that it was only fitted to work in smooth water within short range of its base. The Admiralty wanted something more seaworthy, more like a real ship which could go to sea with the fleet in almost any weather and cruise for a couple of days without refuelling.

HABITABLE CRAFT

This provided a most difficult problem for both the naval architect and the marine engineer. A great deal of secret experimental work was carried out for nearly ten years before a boat was evolved that met the requirements. Now it is in existence and the navy has its first flotilla of the new motor torpedo-boats.
To most people the striking thing about the craft is their speed.
The exact figure is secret, but it is officially admitted to be more than 40 knots, and it is probably not unfair to say that it is roughly equal to a land speed of fifty miles an hour. To the naval student, however, this is rather a secondary point. The fact that the craft are habitable, that in them two officers and eight men can live and cruise far out at sea for forty-eight hours gives them
a tactical importance that speed alone could not give.

The "M.T.B." is a curious example of the way in which history repeats itself. In this type we have gone right back to the methods of the 1880's, when the first steam-driven torpedo-boats of 50 tons or thereabouts came into existence and half the naval world declared that the battleship was dead. It was the torpedo-boat that died, put out of existence by the torpedo-boat destroyer, craft a little heavier and a little faster. True, the speed of those days was 20 knots, less than half that of the "M.T.B." but relatively the original torpedo-boat was the equal of the new type, since battleship speed in those days was 15 to 18 knots. And just as the 50-ton torpedo-boat of late Victorian times grew into the present-day 1,850-ton destroyer, so we may expect these first motor torpedo-boats to evolve into large motor-driven destroyers.

NEW "FIRING" TECHNIQUE

The handling of the motor torpedo-boat is something entirely new to naval officers. Apart from the speed, the method of discharging the torpedo involves a new technique. For it is not "fired" from a tube as the torpedo is with other ships. It is dropped while the vessel herself is heading at full speed towards the target.
The torpedo falls into the wake of the boat, which must be promptly swung to port or to starboard to give the torpedo a clearance. And swinging a 50-ton boat that is moving at anything between forty and fifty miles an hour through a quarter of a circle is not the kind of thing one does successfully without considerable training. Handling a vessel that moves at such speed, too, is a new sensation, and indeed men who have now had a few weeks'

experience with the new craft admit that the sense of speed becomes dulled so that when approaching a berth or a harbour entrance it is as well to deduce and take the way off the boat for a minute or two before actually trying to run alongside or up harbour.

Mechanically the "M.T.B." is similar to a high-powered motor-car. Actually three engines are fitted, each of 800 h.p. They are modelled on aeroplane-engine design and can be throttled down to a comfortable cruising speed of 20 knots. At that speed their fuel consumption is such that they have a range of 600 miles. Although the full complement is ten, the first boats are being run with one officer and six men, and the accommodation for them, though naturally cramped, is quite as good as that in a small submarine and indeed much better than it was in the early C class of underwater craft.

RANGE OF TORPEDOES

What is the tactical importance of the new design? Ever since the torpedo was invented the aim of its enthusiasts has been to approach the target at high speed
in conditions of poor visibility.
The range of the earliest torpedoes was only about 800 yards, so that the torpedo-boat came under a murderous fire if it was spotted. The present-day torpedo has a range of more than 10,000 yards at a speed of more than 40
knots.

A GREAT SHOW WITH A GREAT STAR

The Singing Kid
AT THE QUEEN'S

Admirers of the singing marvel—Al Jolson—will be more than pleased to know that he is back with us on the silver screen at the Queen's Theatre in "The Singing Kid," a fine piece of singing entertainment in which the star is seen at his best, even surpassing his previous efforts.

Moreover, patrons of the Queen's will be delighted to know that one can now enjoy the shows with equanimity, as their "cooling system" has now been put in order and is functioning delightfully.

The picture on the whole will be decidedly "draw good houses," as it has that "catchy" appeal which is lacking in most pictures.

The story is decidedly sketchy and fairly frequently gets lost entirely; but what matter when one has Al Jolson, Edward Everett Horton, the Yacht Club Boys and Cab Calloway and his Band to keep the ball rolling? They are aided, too, by clever little Sybil Jason, Beverly Roberts and lovely Claire Dodd, who makes a brief appearance when the story has a look-in.

Serving as an appetiser to the main feature is a delightful short entitled "The Regular Kid" in which more than 100 future stars of the silver screen are seen in a programme of songs and dances. Moreover the short is in Technicolor.

The programme should please.

MUTINY ON THE BOUNTY

"Mutiny on the Bounty" Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's sea classic, that is showing to-day at the Star Theatre, is a picture that must take the highest place of all sea dramas converted to the motion picture screen.

It is the true story of a scientific expedition of a group of men who rise in mutiny against the tyranny of their captain and who are eventually tracked down by the long arm of England's sea law and led back to an ignoble death on a yardarm.

Charles Laughton, as Captain Bligh, far surpasses any performance of his spectacular screen career. He gives the role of Bligh the breath of life that only the original Bligh could give it.

Clark Gable appears as the leader of the mutineers, Fletcher Christian, and through his characterization climbs one more notch higher as the most popular male star of the films.

Francis Lane, as Midshipman Dymally, makes his place in the screen limelight more secure. Space forbids the laurels due others in the cast—for there are more than fifty—but orchids are awarded to Producer Theobald for his daring and foresight in producing; to Director Frank Lloyd who has injected a whiff of Ol' Debbi; Sea into every scene; to Cameraman Arthur Edson for the most beautiful sea shots ever flashed on the silver screen, and to every other individual who had part in making "Mutiny on the Bounty" the greatest sea picture of all time.

COME OUT OF THE PANTRY

AT THE KING'S

Adding new laurels to an already outstanding career, Jack Buchanan is now playing at the King's Theatre in "Come Out of The Pantry" opposite Miss Fay Wray.

The droll humour, which in America is associated with the English aristocracy, is given full emphasis by Buchanan, who portrays the role of an English peer who travels to America to dispose of some valuable family pictures. He is successful in his mission but is unfortunate in depositing the money in a bank which soon afterwards fails.

Unable to communicate with his mother, who is on a cruise, and unwilling to appeal to his brother, he decides to overcome his temporary difficulties by securing a job as a footman at the house of a wealthy American, named Beach Howard. This job he procures through the offices of an old servant whom he meets in New York.

In his new capacity he catches the eye of the niece (Fay Wray) of his employer who pierces his disguise and is more than suspicious of his bona fides as a footman.

One of the most humorous scenes of the picture is when Buchanan's brother appears as a guest at the house, with the ultimate intention of asking for the hand of the niece.

Events move to an amusing climax wherein he forestalls his brother in winning the hand of the beautiful Fay Wray.

His denouement is complete, he is revealed in his true identity and takes the place of his brother as the honoured guest.

The picture abounds in humour and scintillating wit. Buchanan scrapes in and out of the most embarrassing predicaments with a cheerful optimism that cannot fail to appeal to the audience. It is a picture that should not be missed. —"Rekmit."

200 FREE PENNY PHONE CALLS A YEAR

NEW CONCESSIONS FOR SUBSCRIBERS

House of Commons, July 13.
Concessions to telephone users were announced in the House of Commons this afternoon by Major Tryon, the Postmaster-General. They are:

From October 1 next every subscriber on a quarterly basis under the ordinary residential rates for exclusive lines will be able to make 200 local calls a year free of charge.

This free allowance will be applied to the first 50 local call units in each quarter.

Similarly, the first 16 local call units in each month will be given free to ordinary monthly residential subscribers.

Major Tryon explained that in a large number of cases this would mean that the telephone rental of £1 a quarter will cover all normal charges for the service, and the Post Office would thus be able to offer an inclusive service for the small residential user in all but the largest cities at a figure closely approximating to 1s. 6d. a week.

SOURCE OF DEVELOPMENT

At the same time all ordinary residential subscribers will secure a benefit up to 4s. 2d. a quarter.

Major Tryon went on to say that the "little man" was the chief potential source of development, and he had been impressed with the success which had attended the introduction of the business-small-user-tariff among small shopkeepers and one-man businesses.

As the concession of free calls was not so suitable to this service, as it was usually used for incoming calls, he proposed to make a flat reduction in the business-small-user tariff of 10s. a year, and a similar reduction would be applicable to all ordinary business lines.

In the case of those businesses which rent additional lines to the same premises, the rental for each of these auxiliary lines will be reduced by a further 10s. a year.

He went on to say that there will be consequential reductions in associated services.

COLLEGE COMEDY AT THE ALHAMBRA

"FRESHMAN LOVE"

A college comedy full of sparkling songs and hilarious situations, is being featured at the Alhambra Theatre. Those who liked "College" with Jack Oakie and Joe Penner of "You nasty man" fame, will find the current attraction at the Alhambra just as entertaining, for Frank McHugh is given a leading part and makes the most of his opportunities.

Patricia Ellis as a "campus cutie" is the love interest in a lightly woven story built around the staid surroundings of a college. Warren Hull, a new singing find that has not had many opportunities to reveal his singing prowess, is featured opposite Miss Ellis and comes through with flying colours. George E. Stone, a dependable character actor who was seen recently as a Jew in "San Francisco," is a band leader in "Freshman Love," which only goes to show his amazing versatility. Joe Cawthorn as a worried trainer of the college rowing crew, gathers well merited bouquets for his performance.

The comedy is light, and the entertainment good with a number of new song hits. —"Redincom."

WAR RISK RATES REDUCED

ITALIAN PORT DECISION

London, July 15.

An important reduction of the minimum rates of premium for war risk insurance on goods was agreed yesterday by the joint committee of marine underwriters in the London market which has been responsible for determining the terms. The rates quoted are for open covers and open policies, and hitherto the first terms mentioned in the schedule applied to "all voyages to, from, or via Mediterranean and/or Red Sea," which, of course, covers a great variety of voyages including passages to and from India, Australia, and the Far East through the Suez Canal. Until yesterday the rates quoted were 2s. per £100 on cargo and specie and 1s. 3d. on registered post. Now the committee have agreed that these rates should become 6d. and 3d. per £100 respectively, and they are thereby included with those for all other voyages, with the exception of a number that are specified. Obviously the decision reflects a better view taken of the international situation as this might affect voyages of ships through the Mediterranean. The only exception to the reduction in the Mediterranean group of rates is the maintenance of the special terms for shipments to and from Palestine. On June 11 the rating committee decided that the minimum rates for covering the risks of war and of strikes, riots, and civil commotion in respect of shipments to and from Palestine should be 5s. per £100 for goods covered by the warehouse to warehouse clause, subject to a limit of 15 days after arrival at the port, and 10s. per £100 if the destination of the goods is outside the port, and consequently the limit is extended to 30 days.

At the same time Italian shipping and Italian ports are no longer excluded from the special rating, a decision which coincides with the withdrawal of sanctions. The previous schedules have been prefaced by a statement to the effect that there were excluded the Italian flag, and loading, calling, or discharging at ports in Italy or Italian Possessions, the rating of which was left to the discretion of individual underwriters. Now, in view of the changed conditions, underwriters have considered that the special exclusions should no longer be made.

DIESEL LOCOMOTIVES

We have received from Messrs Harland and Wolff, Ltd., a copy of a new edition of their publication "Oil Engine Traction." This publication has been revised to include the latest advances, and it is significant to note the extent to which hydraulic and mechanical systems of transmission are now being used.

A form of mechanical transmission which has given excellent results in locomotives and railcars over a number of years is the well-known S.L.M. gear, which Harland and Wolff, Ltd., are licensed to manufacture. In this publication a diagrammatic section of the gear-box is shown, together with a photograph of a typical gear-box, and a photograph of a locomotive built by Messrs Harland and Wolff, in which a gear-box of this type, already widely used on the Continent, is incorporated.

Among the many drawings reproduced in the catalogue is one showing the detailed arrangement of a 330 h.p. Diesel shunting locomotive, which the firm is building for one of the British railways. This, it is understood, is the first application of hydraulic transmission to shunting locomotives in the British Isles, and the performance of the unit will be watched with interest. A two-speed gear is incorporated in the transmission of this locomotive, enabling it to be used for shunting or, alternatively, for branch line work at speeds up to 50 m.p.h.

The new publication is profusely illustrated and contains articles of interest to all those who are associated with railway construction.

LOTTERER GAOLED

AN OLD LAG

Charged with lottering in W. Lok street on July 31, Wong Chung, 38, unemployed, appeared before Mr. C.B. Burgess at the Central Court on Saturday and was sentenced to three months.

Det-Serg. T. Cashman was in charge of the prosecution. The Chinese constable who arrested the defendant stated that he was on duty in Wing Lok Street and saw the defendant staring at pedestrians' pockets. Defendant was charged with loitering from Wing Lok Street to Koller Street and to Des Voeux Road. He returned the way he came and at the mouth of Morrison Street he saw the constable and ran. He was chased and arrested.

Mr. Burgess remarked that the defendant had an appalling record of thirteen previous convictions.

Defendant said that since he had been in gaol last, when he was sentenced to two years, he had been trying to go straight. He stated that he was sick and went to look for a doctor. He had stopped outside a fruit stall to light a cigarette when he was arrested.

Defendant was sentenced to three months. His Worship remarking that when he came out he must remember that he must be more careful than the ordinary man.

"BUG-BOARDS"

HAWKING WITHOUT LICENCE

"This is our friend with the 'bug-boards' again" said Inspector W.R. Chester-Woods, amid laughter, while prosecuting Hau Ping Choi, 37, for hawking without a licence, at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday.

Choi was fined 60 cents by Mr. E. Himsforth.

On Thursday when Choi made his initial appearance before the Magistrate charged with the same offence, he was cautioned. A "bug-board"—his own idea, apparently—caused amusement when exhibited in the Court Room. It was a piece of wood 18 inches long, an inch thick and an inch and a half in width, well drilled with holes. The purchaser of the board is supposed to place it on his own bed-board and the bugs will automatically make for the 18 inch board for breeding purposes, and their doom is later killed by placing the board in boiling water.

Inspector Chester Woods said that no sooner was accused released than he began hawking again. When arrested he had 60 cents on his possession.

Choi pleaded that he had to hawk in order to gain sufficient funds for a licence.

AMAH CONVICTED

ON ROBBERY CHARGE

Appearing on remand, charged with aiding and abetting in a robbery at No. 14CA, Kennedy Road, the residence of Mr. and the Misses Allen, on June 24, Fong Yau, an amah of the house was found guilty when she appeared before Mr. W. Schofield on Saturday and was sentenced to two months.

Inspector A.E. Carey stated that in answer to a phone call he had gone to the house and there found the defendant sitting on the floor crying. She had two bruises on her head. She said that when she had answered the door bell a man had attacked her and knocked her down.

The Chinese constable was recalled and he deposed of the finding of photographs of Ah Shui, the other man implicated in the robbery but not apprehended.

Mr. Allen testified that the photographs were those of Ah Shui, his ex-cook boy.

Mr. Schofield said that the only positive evidence against the defendant was that of her accomplice. She had denied knowing the man of whom she had opened the door, but there had been evidence to show that she did know him.

Around the Courts

SERIOUS ASSAULT

That he committed the assault unintentionally was the plea of Yeung Shing, 21, bricklayer, when charged before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy with wounding Kwong Yim at Whitfield Barracks on Friday. Det-Insp. Elston stated that the complainant was in hospital. His condition was serious but not grave. The defendant was remanded in custody until to-day.

ASSAULTING A WOMAN

Lau Chiu, 33, a fish stall foh, was charged before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court on Saturday with assaulting Li Mei Chun, 23, married woman, at Sai Wan Ho.

Sergeant Groves stated that the complainant went to the market and there complained to the defendant that he had sold her fish which was underweight. An argument arose and the complainant stretched her hand out to take some fish and the defendant hit her with a knife.

Defendant was ordered to pay $3 amends and was bound over.

AERIAL WIRES

Charged with the larceny of aerial wire from (a) No. 5, Stewart Road and (b) No. 3, Stewart Road, and (c) being in possession of an instrument fit for an unlawful purpose, Tam Kong, 40, unemployed appeared before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court on Saturday and was sentenced.

Det-Serg. Downman said that the defendant was stopped in Stewart Road carrying the wire in a parcel. A search revealed the pliers tucked in his girdle. The value of the wire was $4, but to replace it would cost $8.

Defendant was taken to Stewart Road and on the roof were found two insulators which had been connected to the wire. The Police asked that a serious view be taken of the case in view of the numerous complaints that had been received.

Defendant was sentenced on (a) charge to two months, and ordered to pay $8 amends or two weeks, (b) two months and ordered to pay amends of $8 or two weeks, and (c) 6 weeks.

BICYCLES TAKEN TO CHINESE TERRITORY

EPIDEMIC OF THEFTS TRACED

The epidemic of bicycle thefts, has been traced to the Chinese frontier, where the machines are sold. It was revealed at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday that two machines—hired for five cents an hour were ridden to Loo Woo, where one of the men, was arrested while the other made his way safely over the boundary line.

The accused Chu Wah, 19 years of age, unemployed pleaded guilty to larceny by bailer of two bicycles valued at $40 from the Wan Kau Bicycle Shop, No. 154 Lai Chi Kok Road, and was fined $10 or in default, one month's imprisonment.

HIRED FOR 5 CENTS

Inspector W. R. Chester Woods (prosecuting) stated that at about 12 noon on July 30 defendant went to Leung Tsang, Kam's shop at No. 154 Lai Chi Kok Road, and hired a push bicycle for one hour for five cents. He signed the book as Wong Wah and gave his address as No. 57 Nam Chang Street, second floor. When defendant took the bicycle away complainant accompanied him to No. 57 Nam Chang Street second floor, in order to verify that defendant did actually belong to there. On arrival at the floor, they were met by another man named Leung Sang (who was apparently in league with defendant) and he confirmed that defendant was living at this address. It later transpired that neither of these two men live at this address but Leung Sang has a friend living there, but who was absent at the time. Leung Sang then told complainant that he also wanted to hire a bicycle, so complainant and both men returned to the bicycle shop. Another bicycle was then handed over to Leung Sang, but was entered down in the book against defendant's name at his own request. Both men then left the

POSSESSION OF REVOLVER

Charged with the possession of a revolver and five rounds of ammunition at 175, Fuk Wing Street, second floor, without a licence, Wong Yuet-lun, 23, unemployed theatre attendant, and Cheung Tin-cheung, aged 23, unemployed laboratory boy, made another appearance on remand before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday.

Mr. Kin-shing Lo, instructed by Mr. J. M. Hall, is appearing for Wong, and Mr. A. el Arcull for Cheung.

The case will be heard to-morrow afternoon at 2.30.

Det-Insp. Elston stated the case is to be dealt with summarily.

BANISHMENT

When Chan Kwai-lam, 60, unemployed, came before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday charged with returning to the Colony before his banishment, period of ten years had expired, he pleaded that he was sick and had nothing to eat. His criminal record disclosed three previous breaches of the Deportation Ordinance. Twelve months' hard labour was imposed. Insp. R. Shannon prosecuted.

SNATCHER TO BE BIRCHED

Remanded from Friday for medical examination, Cheung Wah-yau, 20, unemployed, appeared before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday when he was sentenced to six months' hard labour with twelve strokes for snatching a pair of earrings from a married woman, Wong Luk, 55, while she was walking in Reclamation Street. His Worship remarked that he regarded this type of offence as being more serious than ordinary snatching. Sergeant H. Green prosecuted.

COUNTERFEIT COINS

Yip Lau, 45, duck breeder, appeared before Mr. Macfadyen at the Magistracy on Saturday charged with the possession of ten counterfeit Hong Kong ten cents pieces at the Sham Shui Po Ferry wharf. On the application of Insp. Chester Woods the accused was remanded for 48 hours.

STILL IN HOSPITAL

Stabbing Case Is Again
Remanded

So Shing, 56, described as a master barber, of No. 77 Bulkeley Street, Hung Hom, arrested in connection with the sensational stabbing affair some weeks ago in Hung Hom district, when four persons were injured including a three-year-old girl, was further remanded at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday when his case was called before Mr. E. Himsforth.

Sergeant Stewart in applying for a remand, said that accused was still unable to attend court as he lay ill in Victoria Jail hospital.

The victims of the alleged attack were: Kwok Hung, principle tenant of No. 77 Bulkeley Street, Lai Fuk, his wife, Ip Kiu, mother of Kwok, and Kwok Chi Tong, 3 year-old daughter of Kwok and Li.

shop with the two bicycle. They then proceeded in the direction of Tai Po.

CAUGHT AT FRONTIER

At about 8 o'clock that night, Detective No. C. 128 was on patrol along the frontier road near Loo Woo Bridge which leads into Chinese Territories when defendant came along riding a bicycle. The detective questioned him and defendant admitted that he had hired the machine from the Wan Kau bicycle shop at Shamshuipo. The detective made enquiries from the villagers and was informed that the other man Leung Sang, had already been seen crossing to Chinese territory with the other machine.

Defendant admitted that he and Sang were taking the machines to the Chinese territories to sell them. On the way there they had scraped the number of characters of the shop, from the back mudguards, and repainted them.

The other man, Leung Sang, said the prosecuting officer resides at No. 8 Sung Street, Kowloon City, but could not be found at present. His mother stated that he had not been home for the past three days.

STOWAWAY TO BE DEPORTED

ARRESTED IN MANILA

After having served 10 days in jail for stowing away on the Chinese Prince to Manila, Wu Yuen Leung, 20, unemployed will be sent back to Shanghai by the police, from whence he came.

When Wu was charged before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy with being a stowaway he admitted guilt. Sergt. Mattinson said that Wu was arrested in Manila by the Customs.

"Why wasn't he prosecuted in Manila?" asked the Magistrate. Sergt. Mattinson: I don't know.

Mr. A.W. Hollands, a representative of Furness Far East (Ltd.), agents for the Prince's Line said that he knew very little of the case. The fare down to Manila from Hong Kong for first class passengers was £8. No other class was catered for.

The Magistrate remarked that the offence for which Wu was accused of, was wrongly worded, as he had been arrested in Manila. The section under which Wu was charged related to arrest in British Waters. The charge was accordingly amended to a section embracing illegal passage between two ports.

In answer to the Bench, Mr. Hollands said that the Prince Line had no vessel sailing direct from Hong Kong to Shanghai, but from Manila to the latter port.

Sergt. Mattinson stated that another vessel would be sailing for the north in about ten days' time, and the police would see to the arrangements.

CHARGE IS DISMISSED.

POSSESSION OF GREEN PINE
WOOD

An interesting decision was handed down by Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday when he dismissed Chung Shing, unemployed, who appeared on remand on a charge of the unlawful possession of 1,315 catties of split green pine wood.

At the previous hearing the defendant, stated that he bought the wood, and Mr. G. B. Twemlow, of the Forestry Department, said that the defendant owned a matched shop amongst the junk builders on the beach at Cheung Sha Wan. By virtue of a warrant Sergt. McDonald and Mr. Twemlow searched the defendant's premises and found the wood. The defendant could not prove satisfactorily where he got the wood.

His Worship then expressed doubt as to the legality of the charge and adjourned the case for consideration.

On Saturday, his Worship, giving his decision said: "I have decided in this case to dismiss the charge as I do not feel I can go against the authority laid down and a number of cited cases in England and in the Colony in which it was held that property which is stated to have been had in unlawful possession is found in a house or a shop and not being conveyed through the street that, unless the full offence of receiving can be proved there is no offence that can be alleged against the defendant. The basis of these decisions is, I understand, simply on general questions of law that an Englishman's home is his own castle and therefore the Chinese British subject is entitled to the same protection. A search warrant can only be obtained to look for stolen property and therefore the person could only be charged with receiving of theft. The charge is dismissed."

MORE MONEY NEEDED

For Britain's Defence

ANTI-GAS SCHOOL

London July 14.
Additional money needed for Britain's defence, is included in a supplementary Civil Service estimate for £4,006,250 issued to-day.

This brings the total of supplementary estimates for 1936 so far up to £33,972,212.

As, however, £25,600,000 was provided for in the Budget for defence and civil supplementary estimates, the result is a net increase of £8,372,212.

The greater part of to-day's estimate (£2,930,000) is for the Ministry of Agriculture on account of the cattle fund.

The second largest item is £857,000 which it is shown is required by the Home Office for the air raid precautions department.

Of this total £850,000 is required as "increased provision for the production of respirators."

It was stated to-day that the Government are taking immediate steps to provide a supply of gas masks sufficient for every member of the civil population. They will be stored throughout the country.

Another £100,000 is also required for the secret service, the original estimate for which was £250,000.

It is recalled that it has been decided that the Palestine Government shall, in principle, be liable for the excess cost of troops stationed in Palestine, and also the capital cost of works services in Palestine.

Repayments by the Palestine Government will be determined with regard to that Government's ability to pay, but it is estimated that in 1936, as in 1935, the liability will be met in full.

Meanwhile "repayment from Palestine towards cost of defence—£49,990" appears as an appropriation in aid.

ANTI-GAS SCHOOL

Of the additional £2,930,000 required for the cattle fund, £2,877,000 represents payments to producers.

The original net estimate under this head was £1,069,000. The revised estimate totals £3,999,900.

Air-raid precautions are also responsible for the greater part of an additional £32,500 required by the Office of Works, £5,000, being required for the civilian anti-gas school at Farnfield, Gloucestershire, and £25,000 for the purchase and adaptation by the Air-raid Precautions Department of two factories in the Manchester area.

An item of £7,230, representing repayments to the Civil Contingencies Fund, includes £1 remitted in respect of stamp duties on the Royal warrant consenting to the marriage of the Duke and Duchess of Kent, and another ten shillings in connection with the Duke's introduction to the House of Peers.

The remission of stamp duties on the warrants conferring baronies on Sir Clive Wigram, Sir Frederick Ponsonby, and Sir E. Hilton Young, cost £451, while similar remissions on documents conferring knighthood on 20 persons resident abroad or otherwise unable to attend investitures accounts for £887.

to the same protection. A search warrant can only be obtained to look for stolen property and therefore the person could only be charged with receiving of theft. The charge is dismissed."

FIRST CONFERENCE IN SOUTH CHINA

Y's Men's Club Gather At Welcome Dinner

FELLOWSHIP SPIRIT

Nearly one hundred members and guests attended the Welcome Dinner of the first South China District Conference of the International Association of Y's Men's Clubs held at the Chinese Merchants' Club rooms, China Building, on Saturday night. Dr. Arthur W. Woo, District Governor, South China, was in the chair.

In the course of his speech, Dr. Woo explained the objects and functions of the Y's Men's Club. He spoke of the steady growth of the Club. "Without sacrificing quality for quantity, we want more clubs and more members. We want also to discover further avenues for service and to arrive at the most practicable means for effective work," remarked the Chairman.

Behind the Chairman's seat was hung the silk flag of the Y's Men's Club flanked with the Red Ensign and the China National flag.

Guests present included the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall, the Hon. Mr. M. K. Lo and Mrs. Lo, Professor and Mrs. W. I. Gerrard, Professor W. C. W. Nixon, Professor Hsu Ti-shan, Dr. (Miss) Katherine Woo, Mr. K. Noble, Canadian Trade Commissioner, and Mrs. Noble, Mr. M. W. Scott, Mr. W. N. Thomas Tam, President of the Rotary Club, and Mrs. Tam, Mr. M. F. Key, Secretary of the General Chamber of Commerce, Dr. and Mrs. Y. K. Wong, Mr. H. H. Beddow, Mr. and Mrs. Y. K. Phoon (Canton), Dr. K. S. Fong (Canton), Mr. Edward H. Lockwood (Canton) and delegates from Amoy and Canton.

A splendid Chinese dinner was served and during the evening messages, bringing cordial greetings and wishes for success of the Conference, from Montreal, Amoy, Foochow, Yunnanfu, Tientsin and Tainan, were read, as well as a message from Mr. W. Yinson Lee, Regional Director.

The toasts of His Majesty the King and the Republic of China were both proposed by the Chairman and duly honoured.

CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH

I deem it indeed a very great honour to have the privilege of presiding on this memorable occasion marks the beginning of the first South China District Conference of the International Association of Y's Men's Clubs.

At the outset let me extend to you all a very hearty welcome. It is a real pleasure to see so many delegates, and distinguished guests here to-night. I want especially to thank the ladies and the Y's menettes who have come to grace the function with their presence.

Perhaps I should here explain for the benefit of our visitors, what is a Y's Men's Club. It is a unit in an international organization founded in America about 14 years ago by Paul William Alexander. Its members are young men who strive to follow the teachings of Christ. The Association of Y's Men's Club is a companion organization to the Young Men's Christian Association, which has been so well described as, next to the Churches, the greatest character builder in the world. The basis of admission to the Y's Men's Club is character—and that rare form of character known as unselfishness or altruism. Our candidate must be primarily interested in the welfare of others. He must declare his purpose to serve rather than be served.

The Y's Men's creed is not unlike that of Rotary International: our Association is sometimes spoken of as the "Young Rotary." Without presumption, we may claim to go a little further: we place a somewhat greater emphasis upon personal service.

THE MOTTO

The motto of the Y's Men's Club is "To acknowledge the duty that accompanies every right." In other words, to pay with service for the privileges enjoyed in this life. The stated objects of the Y's Men's Clubs are these:—

1. To cultivate good fellowship among Y's Men and Young Men's Christian Association members everywhere.

2. To enable Y's Men to keep better informed upon subjects of immediate civic, economic, social and international interest.

3. To support, by active service, deserving philanthropic and social movements.

4. To encourage righteousness and justice in civic and international affairs, abstaining always from party politics and sectarianism.

5. To develop by sound character-building substantial, as distinguished from formal, patriotism.

6. To serve, by diligent, active, personal and united effort in carrying forward every phase of the programme of the Y.M.C.A.

These are the resolution which every Y's Man makes. They are translated into service by means of Committees.—One of its Committees is known as the Visiting Committee which has the duty of carrying cheer and comfort to the sick and bereaved. Special Committees are formed for special purposes according to the service to be undertaken.

BIG MEMBERSHIP

It is wonderful to realise that in the short span of time elapsed since the International Association of Y's Men's Clubs was founded, 150 individual Clubs have been formed in 15 countries, and the membership to-day throughout the world is over 3,500. I cannot better describe the work done by the Clubs than by recounting something of what has been accomplished and attempted in China.

The history of our Chinese Clubs began only 12 years ago. The first Club was in Shanghai, organised by our present Regional Director, Yinson Lee. The members adopted as an additional motto that of "Fellowship, Culture, and Service."

The activities of that Club soon became infectious, and its weekly meetings and service work became known throughout China. Sister Clubs were organised in various cities, until at the present time we have 14 situated as follows:—

Two in Shanghai, and one in Tientsin, Peiping, Tsingtao, Tsinan, Nanking, Soochow, Chungking, Wuhu, Foochow, Amoy, Yunnanfu and Hong Kong.

In nearly all these cities the Y's Men's Club is the most active organisation; they are all rendering constructive service to their communities. Medical service for the poor, free educational centres, free vocational schools, kindergartens, the housing of students, play-ground for under-privileged children, public health propaganda work, anti-opium clinic, and work along similar lines, are the principal activities.

MONEY RAISED

In order to carry out those services, our Clubs have raised money by various means, notable instances during the current year being the Tientsin Y's Men netting over $3,000 with their Y's Follies; the Peiping Y's Men $3,000 with a Y's Men's Night, and the Shanghai Y's Men nearly $11,000 with its Benefit Ball. In addition, every Y's Men's Club in China substantially assisted in securing funds and members for the Young Men's Christian Association in their respective cities.

The Y's Men's Movement has made steady growth in China, averaging more than one Club a year and with an aggregate membership of nearly 500. Its achievements have attracted the attention of the sister Clubs throughout the world, which responded liberally to the call of the Peiping Y's Men's Club year for funds towards the relief of famine sufferers in China.

Our South China Clubs are all comparatively young; at the proper time and place in our Conference their activities will be reviewed.

I come now to the present Conference and our expectations from it. The value of conferences, especially to an organisation like ours, I need not emphasise.

SPIRIT OF SERVICE

Service requires the spirit of service, which is the spirit of personal exertion and self-sacrifice. And, however valiant and willing it may be, the spirit requires refreshing and re-energising. We meet here to exchange experiences, views and ideas, to learn from each other, to discuss our problems for our mutual aid. Especially do we want this to be a fellowship conference so that each club may feel, despite the distances, separating us, not isolated but united in our common purpose and strengthened by pledges made and lasting friendship formed. We want to make our clubs better clubs, our members better members; and, without sacrificing quality for quantity, we want more clubs and more members. We want also to discover further avenues for service and arrive at the most practicable means for effective work. Y's Men we are, then, let us be Y's Men.

The slogan for this Conference may well be "Carry on." There will be difficulties and discouragement; but we have started this labour of mutual assistance and self-sacrifice. Let us see it through.

I pray that as the result of our deliberations we may be inspired to continue in faith and heartily to the justification of ourselves and the betterment of humanity.

PRESIDENT'S WELCOME

Mr. Wong Kam On, President of the Hong Kong Y's Men's Club, said:—

"To-day marks the opening of the first South China District Conference of the International Y's Men's Club.

"This Conference is convened for the purpose of exchanging greetings as well as ideas of Y's men on social and educational problems that are of significance to our country. It would seem that China is at the moment greatly in need of men who are ready to put service before self. How much, are we prepared to serve our countrymen? And the world unselfishly? This Conference is to afford us an opportunity to talk over together matters that we all, as Y's men, can do as a body, each in our own small way, to help on the progress and promote the welfare of our people.

"Out of this Conference we should learn something of the real meaning of service and success in helping others. We should remind people in privileged positions, that the more privileged and educated they are, the greater should be their responsibilities towards the unenlightened and uneducated masses.

WHAT WORLD OWES

"That mere accumulation of wealth and power over our fellow men and to abstain from helping the needy when called upon is different to the aims and ideals of our Club. The world owes more, indeed, to those who know how to make sacrifices and render service to the men and women who happen to be less fortunate than they are. The qualities of a Y's man in all walks of life are to be judged not for what he seems to be or what he seems to have achieved, but for what he has actually tried to do and achieved, either as a political leader, as a doctor, as a teacher, as an engineer or as a merchant, to alleviate the sufferings of his fellow men.

"The delegates have not considered it far and difficult to come and join us in this Conference. That alone attests to their lofty purpose and high sense of duty towards our countrymen. It is my privilege and pleasure to extend the warmest and heartiest welcome on behalf of our club, to all the delegates from: Foochow, Amoy, Yunnan and Canton. I would now ask you to rise and drink to the health of the delegates." (Applause).

MORE WATER FOR THE COLONY

But Storm Is Accompanied By Disaster

COLONY ESCAPES FROM TYPHOON

It is to be presumed that people can now take a bath without the accompanying apprehension that the water will be turned off in the middle of it, leaving the bather in two minds whether to take a shave with the soap which one has been unable to wash off or to just scrape it off the best one can and sally forth shining in dried soap like a setting sun.

If the 8.74 inches of rain which fell on Saturday night are insufficient to raise the water restrictions, the only other solution is to hope for the "Flood" to recur. The greater part of the rain fell during the hours of 6.30 and 7.30 a.m. on Sunday, the fall being 2.80 inches.

Several collapses followed the storm some of which were accompanied by fatal consequences. An earth collapse at the site of the new Queen Mary Hospital resulted in the death of a Chinese woman with two men being very seriously injured.

The ground around the site, loosened by the rain, fell in a smothering heap. Fifty tons of earth lodged on a matbed belonging to the Kin Lee Contractor burying several people. The Fire Brigade were quickly on the scene and extricated the unfortunate people. One Chinese woman was already dead. Two Chinese males were sent to the Government Civil Hospital with severe injuries.

The Police and Government officials were early on the scene of the landslide. Everything possible was done for the injured and precautions were taken for a possible recurrence of a fall.

Two houses at West Point were flooded, due to a falling rock breaking through the wall at the back and tearing up the water meter. The water thus released flowed through the premises. The houses were Nos. 1 and 2 Yu On Terrace, the rock falling at about 9 a.m.

A rather unusual accident occurred in Robinson Road, at the junction with the Peak Road, near the Cannosian Hospital. Car No. 2947 was buried underneath a collapse of earth. There were no persons injured.

Traffic and roads came in for their share of the disasters. In one part of the Central District, traffic was suspended for about half an hour due to floods. The water was at a height sufficient to prevent vehicles from moving along.

Magazine Gap Road was temporarily closed due to a large rock rolling off the hillside and blocking the thoroughfare. The rock was removed during the course of the day and traffic resumed during the afternoon.

able to attend the Conference, was then read by Dr. F. I. Tseung, first Vice President. The message expressed sincere greetings and thanks to the Hong Kong Y's Men's Club for acting as hosts of the Conference.

Mr. E. S. Sy, President of the Amoy Y's Men's Club and Treasurer of the Amoy University, said that he brought greetings from his Club and wished the Conference the success it deserved.

Messages of greeting from the Yunnanfu and Foochow Y's Men's Clubs were read by Mr. T. Y. Li and Mr. S. B. Tan, respectively. Foochow were unable to send delegates.

Mr. Edward H. Lockwood, of the Chinese Y.M.C.A., Canton, bringing a message from Canton, said that it was the first time he had represented that City. With the conference, he saw a new chapter in the history of China. Canton was the place for the building up of China. Personally, he believed it was a new day for them in Canton. He believed that with Canton as the base and the co-operation of Hong Kong it was going to be a move forward for China. He thanked the Hong Kong Club for having the conference as it meant that Canton would have a new Y's Men's Club but they needed the help of a few friends from Hong Kong. (Applause).

ENQUIRY INTO EMPIRE COMMUNICATIONS

Sir Campbell Stuart To Preside

In his address to the Bristol Summer School of the Royal Empire Society, Mr. Edward Wilshaw, J.P., F.C.I.S., Chairman of Cable & Wireless, Limited, made further reference to the re-examination of the communications position in the British Empire as already agreed in principle by the Empire Governments and announced that Sir Campbell Stuart would preside over the committee which would consider the problem.

Mr. Wilshaw pointed out that up to the present time the British Empire had predominated in the matter of world communications, but the position was being seriously challenged and there was a grave danger of these communications becoming wholly uneconomic.

The Governments of the Empire had however agreed that a committee consisting of representatives of the Dominions and Colonies should examine the matter.

Mr. Wilshaw added that this committee would be presided over by a great Imperialist, Sir Campbell Stuart, and under his able chairmanship and with the helpful collaboration of our "friendly ally" the British Post Office who run one of the most "successful businesses in the world, and with the added co-operation of those who administer the telecommunications services so "effectively in the Dominions and Colonies, I am confident that a solution will be found which will redound to the credit of the "statesmanlike qualities of those who have to give the matter their "consideration, and that the solution will permit of the fullest "development of scientific progress and unity and place the "communications of the Empire on an economic basis."

Mr. Wilshaw concluded by emphasising that the Empire telegraphic communications are an essential part of the defence problem. (Contributed).

KOWLOON VICAR'S HOLIDAY

The Rev. J. R. Higgs, Vicar of St. Andrew's Church, and Mrs. Higgs will be away from the Colony from August 7 until the end of the month. During the Vicar's absence the Rev. L. L. Nash, acting Headmaster of the Diocesan Boys' School, will take charge of the church and he will have the assistance of the following special preachers:— Dr. H. D. Matthews, Rev. R. Carter and the Rev. Cyril Brown, Chaplain of the Missions to Seamen.

The south side of the Island was particularly fortunate in escaping disaster. The roads were singularly free from any landslides or falling stones.

Cochet Outwits Stoeffen

VICTORY IN SOUTHPORT TOURNAMENT

London, July 8.

H. Cochet, the former Wimbledon champion, yesterday played for the first time in this country as a professional when he competed in the International tournament at Southport.

He defeated L. R. Stoeffen, the American, by 6-3, 6-2, 10-8 in a second round singles match. For the first time since he left the amateur ranks Cochet produced something like his old form. His return of service, in spite of its great pace, did much to reduce the American's advantage in this respect and robbed him of his most formidable weapon of attack.

CLEVER TACTICS

From the baseline Cochet had little difficulty in opening out the court by concentrating on Stoeffen's defensive backhand. When Stoeffen got to the net, as he tried to do on every possible occasion, Cochet, beat him time and again with a backhand passing shot across the court that sped away out of the American's reach.

Cochet won the first two sets with something in hand. The third went to 20 games, Stoeffen serving and volleying at his best to catch up from 3-5 to 6-5, but Cochet recovered his lead to win without the loss of a set.

In a first round match A. Burke, of Ireland, had little difficulty in beating A. Estrabeau, the French professional, by 6-4, 6-4, 6-2. Burke controlled his shots well, and, mainly by mixing good length shots to Estrabeau's backhand with short ones to the other wing, he frequently forced his opponent into errors.

In the doubles W. T. Tilden and Stoeffen beat Estrabeau and M.

THE BROKEN SOLDIER

No struggle in history threw so much human material into the firing line as did the Great War, and, quite apart from the vast number of deaths, much of the living wreckage from that material is still with us. Some of the lessons and morals from that experience were being discussed recently at the conference of the Ex-Services Welfare Society in London. It cannot be said that the references by various experts to "war neurosis" and the way to obviate it were particularly encouraging. "Who is the happy warrior?" inquired Wordsworth of an age when fighting was still a profession rather than an obligation. "Who is he, that every man in arms should wish to be?" For this more exacting period one obvious answer would be "Somebody who is not liable to 'anxiety neurosis' and shell-shock," but there is no guarantee that the supply of such types will be equal to the next demand for them. On the contrary, a consulting physician to the British army remarked that "he thought they must expect in any future war probably about the same percentage of 'shell-shock' cases, particularly if the next war involve drafting into the army recruits from the civil population." If the next war is a European war it certainly will involve that condition, and the weakest will again go to the wall. Some of the speakers dwelt on the desirability of "eliminating" from military service men who, though physically fit, had a history which implied nervous instability. It is an excellent idea in the case of a peacetime, professional army, but how would it work with the conscript drafts of war? Brutal haste rather than picking and choosing is then the rule. One comes back to the conclusion that the only certain way to avoid a legacy of crippled minds as well as crippled bodies is to avoid war.

LAWN BOWLS

THE INTERNATIONAL GAMES

London, July 17.

The international games between England, Scotland, Ireland, and Wales were continued at Queen's Park, Glasgow, yesterday, when, in the morning, Ireland, with two rinks reconstructed, beat England by 105 to 98 in a game that was remarkably close after the first few ends. Ireland's victory was largely the result of a 29-13 win by G. Watson (Larne) over F. Fisher (Gloucestershire). A. McAlpine (Castleton) also did well to beat A. H. Bull (Northamptonshire) by 25 to 21.

Ireland started in great style, and in the first three ends gained a lead of 21-9. Of England's skips, A. H. Bull faced a score of 10-1 against him, which included a 6 on the third end; F. Fisher had not scored while G. Watson had made 5, and W. J. Jones was 3-4. On the fourth end P. D. Tomlinson (Kent) received a setback with five against him, thus putting him behind at 3-6. By five ends England had recovered somewhat with 30-22 against. For a time Ireland again had the major share of the game, after which England showed signs of improvement, and at half-way had reduced their deficit to eight shots, as in the first stage, with the score at 48-56. G. Watson was repeating his fine form of Wednesday against Scotland, and led A. H. Bull by 16-8; H. Bristowe and W. J. Jones each held a slight lead for England, while P. D. Tomlinson was all square at 10.

By 15 ends neither side had gained any advantage, a difference of eight still separating them with the score at 81-71 in Ireland's favour. Bristowe was discounted by Tomlinson with a gain of four. There was considerable excitement as the scores were posted and by end, showing a rise or fall to one or the other, and the game proceeded to six in Ireland's favour, with all the rinks finished except Tomlinson, who still had two ends to play. On the 20th Tomlinson drove with the head against him, and the result was no end. The replay saw Tomlinson, with his last wood, fall in a fine attempt to score 4 by means of a wick. On the last head eight were required by England to tie, an exceedingly remote chance, and the head ended with a single to Tomlinson.

SCOTLAND BEAT WALES

In the afternoon Scotland played Wales and won comfortably by 115-95 after Wales had held the lead at 10 ends by three shots. In the first five ends Scotland led at 26-24. At 10 ends the scales had turned in Wales's favour at 49-46. J. F. Williams, the Welsh captain, had not moved from four, while J. Rowatt had gone to 10. On the other hand E. Parry (Penarth) was 15-5 against A. Dunlop. At 15 ends Scotland were once again in front with the promising score of 84-66. W. S. Lowe (Musselburgh) had had much his own way against W. J. Treen and was 22-7, as also was J. Rowatt (Larkhall) against J. F. Williams. Towards the end Scotland more than held their own and won with big scores on two rinks against three narrow wins by Wales.

The position now is.—Scotland 4 points, England and Ireland 2 points each, Wales none. The tournament will be concluded today, when Ireland play Wales and Scotland meet England.

GREATEST SPORTING EVENT

CHANCELLOR HITLER OPENS OLYMPIAD

Pigeons Released To Give The Good News

Berlin, August 1. With the shortest speech in his career, "I declare the Eleventh Olympiad open," Chancellor Hitler opened the greatest sporting event in the world when fifty three countries were represented by over 5,000 athletes.

Scenes of the greatest enthusiasm prevailed although rain somewhat damped the ardour of the hundred thousand people who crammed the stadium where the athletes marched past. Thirty thousand pigeons were released to give news of the opening of the Olympiad to the world.

Prince Paul, brother of King George of Greece, who leads the Olympic athletes from his country.

TORCH RELAY ENDS

The crowd sang the National Anthem, followed by the Horst Wessel song. The band, conducted by the composer Richard Strauss, played the Olympic Hymn, the crowd joining in while the German runner carrying the Olympic torch, which had been brought by relay from Olympia in Greece, entered the gate and ran to Hitler's Tribune where he kindled the Olympic fire which will burn throughout the Games.

AMERICAN LAPSE

Berlin, August 1. As the American athletes passed the Tribune there was a certain amount of whispering, due to the fact that not only did the Americans not salute (which had been expected as it is not in accordance with American regulations to dip the flag), but certain members of the team failed to doff their headgear.

CHINESE GESTURE

Berlin, August 1. The Chinese team did not give the raise arm salute and instead turned their eyes to the right smartly and whipped off their hats which they held over the left breast.

BRAZIL WITHDRAWAL

Berlin, August 1. A dispute as to the merits of two teams from Brazil resulted in both withdrawing from the track, field, swimming and rowing events at the Olympic Games.

JESSE OWENS AGAIN

World Record Time Beaten

FIRST DAY OF OLYMPICS

(Special Olympic Service—Copyright)

Berlin, August 2. Sunday, the first day of the Olympic contests in the stadium, opened at 10.30 a.m. with the preliminary qualifying heats for the 100 metres flat which left little doubt that the United States runner, Jesse Owens, will emerge as the final victor in this event. Although he faced no strong opponents in his heat, he ran in the world record time of 10.3 seconds. Europe has, however, one hope in the Dutchman, Osendarp, who made the second best time with 10.5 seconds.

Weather conditions were none too promising early in the morning, the sky being completely overcast, but a moderate wind gives the promise that rain will hold off. Despite the early hour and the fact that only the preliminary heats were being run the stadium was well filled by at least 50,000 spectators.

PRELIMINARY HEATS

As a result of the twelve preliminary heats the following competitors qualified for the first intermediate heats: Strandberg, Sweden, 10 points; Yoshoka of Japan, 10.8; Berger, Holland 10.8; Danaher, South Africa 11; Van Beveren, Holland, 10.8; Grimbeck, South Africa, 10.9; Gyenes, Hungary, 10.7; Suzuki, Japan, 10.7; McPhee, Canada, 10.8; Lindgreen, Sweden, 10.8; Theunissen, South Africa, 10.7; Hornberger, Germany, 10.7; Metcalfe, U.S., 10.8; Str. In the first round of the 100 metres heat the winner was McPhee, Canada, 10.2 seconds.

Chen made a good start in heat eight but he did not last and finished fourth. The heat winner was Borchmeyer, Germany, 10.7 seconds. Lui was not competing to the 100 metres.

In the high jump trial Wu Pin-Hsien failed to qualify.

WOMAN'S RECORD

Berlin, Aug. 2. The new woman's Olympic record for the javelin throw was short-lived for Tilly Felscher of Germany broke her own record established in the semi-finals by bringing the mark to 45.18 metres.

The first gold medal in the Berlin Olympiad was won by Tilly Felscher in the women's javelin throw with a distance of 45.18 metres, the silver medal also going to Germany with a throw of 43.24 metres by Kreuger.

Tilly Felscher won the bronze medal in the Los Angeles Games and expected she would win in Berlin.

PUTTING THE SHOT

Berlin, Aug. 2. Simultaneously with the 100 metres flat heats the elimination trials for the shot put took place, 38 competitors representing 19 nations being divided in two groups from which the following fifteen athletes qualified for the semi-finals: first group, Kuntzi, Finland; Zalta, U.S.A.; Vlisding, Estonia; Stoeck, Germany; Torrance, U.S.A.; Hoplick, Czechoslovakia. No doubt, the many patrons who enjoyed Mr. Kaluzhny's supervision of the Chinese Restaurant on the Roof Garden, will miss his congenial personality, but will still be able to receive the same attention on the main floor.

Czechoslovakia beat Denmark 13 to 3, while Austria defeated Egypt 11 to 5, and Hungary, which is the hot favourite, vanquished Norway by a decisive score of 10 to 6.

GOVERNMENT TROOPS OCCUPY FORTIFIED TOWN

Heavy Damage In Air Bombardment

SARAGOSSA ATTACK REPULSED

Ship As Prison For Rebel Officers

Barcelona, August 2. It is reported that Government troops have occupied the fortified town of Cabrera in the Balearic Islands, whilst the fall of Palma in Majorca is expected after heavy bombardment by aeroplanes in which over a hundred large bombs were dropped, seriously damaging the Archbishop's Palace, Cathedral, barracks, railway and power stations, but the coast petrol stores in the international zone were not bombed.

It is stated that Government troops repelled insurgent sorties from Saragossa after a battle lasting three hours. Two hundred and fifty insurgents including three generals and thirty nine colonels are at present imprisoned in a floating prison on the steamship Uruguay.—Reuter.

FAMILY AS HOSTAGES

Gibraltar, Aug. 1. Flying no ensign, a Spanish torpedo boat this evening entered Algeciras harbour. It is presumed that the vessel has surrendered to the insurgents.

Two delegates have been sent to Gibraltar by the insurgents at Linares to interview the pilot of the Government flying boat which was forced down at Gibraltar and informed the pilot that if he and also his crew surrendered, the members of his family who are now in the hands of the insurgents would be spared, otherwise they would be executed forthwith. The pilot has not yet replied to the demand.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

SARAGOSSA REVERSE

Perpignan, Aug. 1. Barcelona is preparing to resist the siege by the insurgents according to refugees fleeing from Marauce.

Two Communist gangs are making a house to house search of the city for fascists or suspected sympathisers. There are strong indications that the Government columns which were marched in an attack on Saragossa suffered heavy losses. Ambulances, lorries and private cars full of Red Cross men were seen driving furiously from the station to meet the trains laden with wounded people. Cobblestones are being torn from the roadways to make street barricades and machine gun emplacements in the coming conflict.

In the meanwhile there are signs of a definite food shortage becoming apparent. Reports from all quarters bear out the fact that persons suspected of belonging to the Right parties are being murdered in cold blood.—Reuter.

MAJORCA WARNING

Barcelona, Aug. 1. The civilian population of Majorca has been ordered to evacuate all towns on the island in a notification issued by the commandant of the Government air base at Barcelona, warning that the towns are about to be bombed.

A Government communiqué claims that the loyal forces advancing on Saragossa captured the towns of Sagasta and Quinto between thirty and forty miles from their objective.—Reuter.

BRITISH REFUGEES

London, Aug. 1. The cruiser Devonshire is on the way to England from Valencia with 350 refugees from Madrid. About a hundred others are expected in Valencia to-morrow, after which only three hundred Britons will still remain in Madrid.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

GERMAN CRUISER

Gibraltar, August 2. A cruiser flying the German ensign arrived in Algeciras this afternoon. The name of the vessel is not yet known.—Reuter.

REPORTS FROM MALAGA

Gibraltar, Aug. 2. British refugees from Malaga and other small Spanish towns who arrived aboard H.M.S. Bulldog report that Spanish Communists in order to save ammunition are cutting off the heads of fascists and throwing the bodies into the sea. Many decapitated corpses have been seen off Malaga.

It is stated that the Communists are hushbanded their ammunition in view of the offensive which they intend shortly to launch against Linares, San Roque and Algeciras.

Passengers from Tangier declare that a foreign flying boat, constantly arriving at various ports in Morocco, especially Melilla. General Franco continues to send Foreign Legionaries to Algeciras.—Reuter.

ETHIOPIANS TAKE REVENGE

Heavy Losses Reported In Dessie Fighting

Paris, Aug. 2. Fierce fighting around Dessie involving 7,000 casualties is reported in messages from the interior of Abyssinia quoted by the Djibouti correspondent of a Paris newspaper.

Attacks on Addis Ababa are also reported in which groups of Ethiopian tribesmen succeeded in penetrating the capital and causing panic among the population.—Reuter.

GERMAN TROOPS IN RHINELAND

Gradual Increase

Berlin, Aug. 1. It was officially announced early this morning that increases in the number of German troops in the formerly demilitarised zone of the Rhineland are to be made gradually.

This step follows the lapse, at midnight of the four-month period during which Herr Adolf Hitler, the German Chancellor, promised to refrain from sending further troops into the Rhineland.

While no precipitate steps are planned for this week-end, it is the intention of the German Government to increase the Rhineland garrison forces as occasion demands and as circumstances permit, it is stated.

There is, apparently, no intention of stationing troops any closer to the French frontier than they are at present.—Reuter.

LORD SEMPILL'S FLIGHT

Karachi, Aug. 1. Lord Sempill has been delayed at Jask for certain adjustments to his machine. He will depart for Karachi at 6 a.m. to-morrow.—Reuter.

AT KARACHI

Karachi, Aug. 2. Lord Sempill landed here at 11.30 a.m. from Jask. He will continue the flight in a few days' time after repair to the tail wheel of his machine.—Reuter.

CLOUD OF IONA MISSING

Fruitless Search For Air Liner

TEN PERSONS ON BOARD

London, Aug. 1. It is feared that ten lives have been lost on board the British air liner Cloud of Iona which left Guernsey at 7 o'clock last night and was due at Jersey 20 minutes later. It is thought that the machine may have made a forced landing in the sea.

Guernsey and Jersey lifeboats kept up the search all night with the help of several vessels in the neighbourhood and at dawn two Royal Air Force machines joined in the search. A Squadron of Royal Air Force flying boats assisted by a number of French aircraft and numerous civil aircraft, and shipping later engaged in a widespread search for the missing air liner which belonged to Jersey Airways, but no trace was found.

In Jersey it is now felt that no further hope can be entertained for the machine or its occupants. The Jersey Airways officials can advance no theory as to cause of the accident.—British Wireless.

ANOTHER REPORT

London, Aug. 1. Lifeboats and steamers are searching in heavy seas for an air liner carrying eight passengers, pilot and wireless operator missing off the Channel Island. The machine belongs to Jersey Airways and was flying from Guernsey to Jersey. The passengers include five British holiday-makers.

Later, practically all hope of finding the missing Jersey air liner has now been given up. Despite a search by aeroplanes, lifeboats and a steamer, no trace has been found, apart from the report that a French air liner had spotted a float in an oil patch. This is now being investigated.

SLIGHT HOPE

An aeroplane searching for the missing Jersey air liner has radioed that she has sighted some wreckage off the Minquier Reef, to the south of Jersey, and is descending to investigate.

After discovery of the wreckage it was decided to resume the search at dawn. There is hope that the passengers may be marooned on the rocks.—Reuter.

TITANIC FUND GRANTS

256 Dependents Of Victims

London, July 7. Although the Titanic was sunk just over 24 years ago, the National Disasters Relief Fund, during the year ended Dec. 31 last, paid relief to 256 dependents of those who lost their lives on the ill-fated ship. That number included 157 widows and 10 children.

The Titanic Fund, which is now administered by the national fund, was largely the result of an appeal by "The Daily Telegraph." The Public Trustee (Sir Ernest Pass) described the situation of the fund at the annual meeting, at which the Lord Mayor (Sir Percy Vincent) presided, at the Mansion House yesterday.

The sum of £399,333 was available at the start of the year, he said, and grants during the 12 months amounted to £16,824.

Regarding the Empress of Ireland Relief Fund, there was £91,230 in hand, and grants amounting to £4,878 were paid to 66 dependents. There was £22,999 in the Lusitania Fund, and £1,048 had been granted to 13 dependents.

As regards the distribution of grants in connection with the Titanic, the bulk went to Southampton, followed by London, Liverpool and Exeter, and as regards the Empress of Ireland to Liverpool, Canada, London and Exeter.

VIENNA DISORDER ARRESTS

"Hong Kong Daily Press" Special Vienna, July 31. Various newspapers report that the number of arrests of former leaders of the National Socialist movement in Austria include the former Federal Councillor Franz Schattentroph.

Technically the arrests are of the order "of preventive custody" to permit an examination of those suspected of complicity in Wednesday's proclamations.—Transocean News Service.

BRITAIN AND EGYPT

Agreement On Sudan Provisions

Cairo, Aug. 1. With the initialing of the draft text of the Sudan provisions of the proposed Anglo-Egyptian treaty, two big obstacles in the way of a settlement of Anglo-Egyptian relations have been removed, as agreement on the military provisions has already been reached. A communiqué was issued announcing that the initialing of the agreed text was performed to-night by the heads of the delegations at Antoniadis Palace, Alexandria. The communiqué adds that it has been arranged to take up the remaining clauses of the draft treaty forthwith.—Reuter.

KWANGTUNG AND KWANGSI

Surprise Attack Repulsed

MARTIAL LAW IN WUCHOW

Shanghai, Aug. 1. A Chinese news agency despatch says that a clash between Kwangtung and Kwangsi troops occurred yesterday morning, when 1,000 Kwangsi troops made a surprise attack on Pengchuan, 15 miles inside Kwangtung. It adds that the invaders were repulsed.

Meanwhile Kwangsi is stated to be preparing to attack Chinghsien and Lienchow, at the extreme western tip of Kwangtung near the coast, which gives an outlet to the sea.

Wuchow is virtually under martial law. The inhabitants are not allowed on the streets after 9 p.m., and they are in a state of panic. The Kwangsi Military authorities are commandeering ships of every size and description.—Reuter.

SEVERE FIGHTING

Nanking, Aug. 1. Severe fighting between Kwangtung and Kwangsi troops on the border between the two provinces has been reported in official despatches to-night.—Reuter.

KWANGSI SECESSION MOVEMENT

Nanking Warships Held In Readiness

Shanghai, Aug. 1. The "China Press" declares that the drastic move to declare an independent Government was decided at a military conference on July 29, but hitherto it had been doubted whether the Kwangsi leaders would really "burn their boats behind them."

Political circles here are now anxiously awaiting news from the south, as to-day had reportedly been fixed for the issuance of the declaration of independence. Communications between Canton and Nanking have been entirely suspended.

All the available gunboats of the Kwangtung River Patrol have been ordered to move to the West River region, while Nanking is holding warships in readiness at Hong Kong.

Kwangsi Provincial Bank notes registered a further decline to-day.—Reuter.

APPEAL TO LONDON AND ROME

SUPPLY OF ARMS TO BELLIGERENTS

France Fears International Complications

Paris, Aug. 1. The Government has decided to make an urgent appeal to all the Governments particularly concerned not to interfere in Spain's affairs. Telegrams have been sent to London and Rome informing Britain and Italy of the French attitude and making suggestions for shortening the civil war and avoiding international complications which it is feared would result from the furnishing of arms to both parties.

When replies have been received to these messages it is expected that similar communications will be sent to other interested powers. It is indicated that France's future course of action will depend on whether it is possible to reach a general understanding with the countries concerned. It is semi-officially stated that the fact that foreign war material is believed to have been supplied to the rebels obliges France to liberty of action as regards future decisions.—Reuter.

NO INTERFERENCE

Paris, Aug. 1. France will not interfere in the affairs of other countries, declared M. Delbos, Foreign Minister, in the Chamber during the debate on the supply of arms to Spain. The French Government had a perfect right to supply arms to the Spanish Government but did not wish to give a pretext to those who wanted to supply arms to the rebels.

An all-night sitting of the Chamber is expected. The Government's position is regarded as delicate, in view of the fact that the opposition is urging that no arms should be supplied to the Spanish Government, while the supporters of the Popular Front are insisting that the sending of Italian plans to Morocco is sufficient excuse for France to help a friendly Government.

The Chamber, by 379 votes to 200, voted confidence in the Government at the conclusion of the foreign affairs debate.—Reuter.

PRESS NOT SATISFIED ("Hong Kong Daily Press" Special) Paris, July 31.

The assurances given by Foreign Minister Delbos that France would remain strictly neutral in the Civil War in Spain, do not appear to satisfy the right wing press, which considers the French Government's intention to make France's future policy dependent on the attitude that the other powers take as "extremely alarming." The papers ask why the planes with gold shipments from Spain landed in France, and express suspicion that the gold may be payment for war materials. Another reason for the gold may be, the papers say, that the leaders of the Popular Front have asked France to store their gold in French safety.—Transocean News Service.

ITALIAN PLANE LANDING

Interest Aroused In France

("Hong Kong Daily Press" Special) Paris, July 31.

A profound impression was created here on Friday by the report emanating from well-informed sources that in the neighbourhood of Oran three Italian planes piloted by Italian officers and non-commissioned officers, had been obliged to make emergency landings. The airplanes were found to contain war material. The effect of this announcement is all the greater since the French Premier and Foreign Minister, on Thursday, both emphasised that France was remaining strictly neutral, and had refused the request for delivery of arms even to the legal Spanish Government.—Transocean News Service.

GOVERNMENT INQUIRY

Rome, July 31. The Government is inquiring into the reported crash of Italian planes in Algeria yesterday.

Official circles point out that the Italian Government is not supplying planes or arms to the contending forces in Spain, and if any have been supplied from Italy it has been through a purely private transaction.—Reuter.

STATEMENT BY CREW

Oran, Aug. 1. The crew of six of the Italian plane which made a forced landing at Moulaya stated that they were commissioned by an Italian firm to deliver the planes. The men are reported to be Reserve industrialists, decorators and civil officers and describe themselves as pilots.

The crew have been detained by the French authorities for not observing the regulations regarding flying over Moroccan territory.—Reuter.

LOUIS BLERIOT PASSES

French Aviation Pioneer

Paris, August 2. The death has occurred of the famous aviator, Louis Blériot.—Reuter. Blériot was born in 1872. He was the French pioneer in aviation and was performing successful experiments with gliders in 1895. It was with the type of monoplane constructed by him and known as the Blériot that he made the first place-to-place flight, 33 miles, in 1908. Blériot was the first man to cross the English Channel in an aeroplane, a feat which he accomplished under remarkable difficulties on July 25, 1909.

BANKERS AND MONEY OF INSANE

Difficulties Under Present Law

RISK OF ACTION

London, July 10. The unsatisfactory nature of the position of bankers and the accounts of insane persons under the Mental Treatment Act of 1930 is discussed by A. V. Barber in "The Banker."

"Obviously behaviour is an extremely unsatisfactory criterion of insanity," he writes. "Eccentricity is often a characteristic of persons of intellectual capacity. The unbusinesslike behaviour of many a savant may well give rise to doubts in the mind of a conscientious bank official."

"Even what may appear undoubted proof, such as the conduct of a person who divests himself of all his clothing in a banking hall, may prove afterwards to be the normal ritual of the honoured president of a nudist colony, while a judge might hold that such an action warranted notice."

"Yet if a banker dishonours his customer's cheque in the belief that he is of unsound mind, he incurs action, not only for breach of contract, but for defamation of character through, wrongly giving others the impression, that his customer is insane."

ARAB INSPECTOR KILLED

RAIN HOLDS UP CRICKET

Little Progress In County Matches

London, Aug. 1.
Rain all over the country caused considerable interference with the cricket matches scheduled for today.

There was no play at Birmingham where Warwick and Worcester were due to meet. Other fixtures in which play was impossible were Kent v. Hampshire at Canterbury and Glamorgan v. All-India at Swansea.

Middlesex and Sussex took the ground at Hove, but after the former had made nine runs at the expense of one wicket there was no further play.

The following were the closing scores of a few matches which made some progress:

Derby 80 (Farnes 5 for 2) v. Essex 102 for 4 at Chelmsford.

Gloucestershire 148 for 5 v. Somerset at Bristol.

Lancashire 180 for 6 (Paynter 92) v. Yorkshire at Manchester.

Northants 168 v. Leicester 118 for 3 at Northampton.

Notts 174 (Gover 5 for 61, Daley 5 for 40) v. Surrey at the Oval.

TIGHT BALL GAMES

Odd Run Decides Issues

TULSA'S CLOSE CALL

The Americans were defeated by the Overseas Chinese on Saturday, after having led for most of the game. Matty Chang, veteran star of the Chinese, came into his own and revealed some of his real form when he came in as a pinch-hitter in the last innings with one down and a tie score and then made a great sacrifice bunt to bring in Ching for the winning hit.

Thompson pitched a good game but "blew up" at the critical stage. He walked two men in the last innings to fill bases and was relieved by Williams who met with temporary success by striking out W. Ching. However this success was short lived for Williams walked Fong while Kau with a hit, brought two home.

The Chinese started with Kau pitching, but he was soon relieved by W. Ching. Moe took his place in the fifth innings. The Chinese fought back determinedly all the way, but were fortunate in their last-minute victory.

Scores by innings:

Americans 1 2 3 4 5 6 7
1 2 3 4 5 6 7

Overseas 1 1 0 0 1 4 7
Chinese 0 1 0 2 0 1 5 hits

TULSA'S CLOSE CALL

Both the baseball games on Saturday had the same scores, a coincidence which is unusual.

The U. S. S. Tulsa did not have the easy time they thought they would have against the Volunteers.

The latter team played good ball, in spite of the fact that they are an inexperienced team. "Lefty" Joe Bowen, on the mound, was conspicuous for the brand of baseball he put up. He struck out five, and only walked one of the sailors, which is something to be proud of for a rookie.

The final score was 7 to 6, and the Tulsa lads had to stretch themselves to win. They switched pitchers in the last innings, and barely won by a lone run.

Dave Leonard, of the Volunteers, made a run that drew them with the sailors, and though the Volunteers were leading in the last inning, the sailors managed to nose out the local lads by the narrow margin of one run.

Scores by innings:

Volunteers 0 1 0 1 2 0 1 8 runs
Tulsa 0 1 0 2 3 0 1 8 hits
Tulsa 1 0 1 1 0 2 2 7 runs
2 0 1 1 1 0 3 1 9 hits

BERLIN OLYMPICS OPEN IN FINE SETTING

Chancellor Hitler Greeted At Stadium

(SPECIAL OLYMPIC SERVICE—COPYRIGHT)

Berlin, August 1.
Punctually at 3.50 p.m. Chancellor Hitler arrived at the Reich sport field where he was greeted with cheers from the thousands who were assembled there. After reviewing the guard of honour in the parade ground, Hitler, entered the Stadium where he was welcomed by the President of the International Olympic Committee, Count Baillet-Latour and the President of the Organizing Committee, Dr. Lewald.

Amid the tumult of applause from row upon row of spectators in the mighty stadium, the Chancellor walked to his seat while the German national and Olympic flags were slowly raised on the masts of the Government Tribune. After playing the German national anthem the flags of all the competing nations were hoisted.

TEAMS MARCH INTO ARENA

The Olympic teams then commenced their march into the arena led by Greece, with Prince Paul at the head of his behind the banner. Rounds upon rounds of applause from the wildly excited onlookers greeted the other teams as the procession gradually grew longer and more colourful as the number of the various national flags increased. The French team was accorded a specially hearty ovation.

The teams finally took up their positions in the centre of the Stadium, the multi-coloured uniforms and flags forming a unique and unforgettable spectacle.

First Conference In South China

Mr. Y. K. Chow, son of the Hon. Sir Shou Son Chow, expressed regret at his father's inability to attend the function.

OUR GUESTS

Proposing the toast of "Our Guests," Mr. Peter H. Sin, Ex-Governor of the Club, said:—

"Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen,—I consider it a great privilege to be asked to say a few words to welcome to our midst so many guests who are with us this evening. It is a great pleasure indeed to have them with us, and we thank them most heartily for the compliment they have paid us by their presence.

"To have come to join us in spite of the wretched weather is an indication that our guests are ready to support our activities under any circumstances, and on behalf of the Y's Men's Club of Hong Kong, I tender them our grateful thanks.

"As most of these guests are well known to all of you, it would seem redundant for me to introduce them. Time also does not permit me to make reference to each and every one of these distinguished guests, but I would, as customary in proposing this toast, say, first of all, a word or two about the responder to this toast, the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall.

"Dr. Kotewall's presence has certainly added lustre and inspiration to our gathering. Dr. Kotewall has always been interested in, and ready to help and support, every movement which is calculated to do good to the community. To enumerate his public activities would occupy the greater part of this evening, and that being so, I would curtail my remarks by merely referring to his latest achievement, and that is his recent appointment by the Government to be a member of the Executive Council. I take this opportunity to congratulate him on your behalf on his conspicuous attainment, which is the highest distinction any citizen could hope for in this Colony.

"I would also like to welcome the Hon. Mr. M. K. Lo, a member of the Legislative Council and a most learned member of the legal profession. Besides being a brilliant lawyer Mr. Lo is a very well-known sportsman, being tennis champion for a number of years. Whilst a law student in England many years ago, he created a sensation in securing the first place in the first class honours in the Solicitors' Final Examination, an outstanding performance which has never been achieved by a student from the Orient. We are proud to have him with us.

"I would like to take this opportunity to welcome also all our other guests.

"Gentlemen, as I know you are all waiting eagerly to listen to the responder of this toast, who is one of the most able and eloquent speakers I have come across, and who will undoubtedly give us some sound guidance and advice, I would now conclude by asking you to drink to the health of our guests, including our visiting delegates."

HON. DR. KOTEWALL'S REPLY

In his speech the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kotewall said:—

"Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen,—When your District Governor, Arthur Woo, invited me to this feast, he assured me that all he expected of me was to give the gathering my blessing. Though really not patriarchal enough to perform that solemn rite, I incautiously agreed, thinking that by that easy means I could earn a good meal. But now I find that I am in for something much less easy. After all that my friend Peter Sin has said, and after the liberty he has taken with my name, I feel bound to say a few words, firstly to thank our hosts on behalf of the guests for their abundant hospitality; secondly, to repudiate what Peter Sin has said about me; and thirdly to thank him for his kind congratulations on my appointment as a member of the Executive Council, and finally, to wish the conference every success.

"Peter Sin has raised an expectation of some sage advice from me. I am afraid I shall disappoint you. You Y's men do not need any advice from old fogies like myself. Your objects and aims are perfectly sound; the work you are doing shows what a bunch of public-spirited young fellows you are.

"Men of Wisdom"

"I must confess that until your District Governor put me wise in regard to your work, I knew very little of the Y's Men's Clubs. Now that I know more about you, I think that the founders were perfectly justified in choosing your name—'Wise' men—men of wisdom.

"Being past the age eligible for membership, I can never hope to be one of you, so as to secure a modicum of your wisdom. But I have partaken of your meal, and like the magic potion in the 'Arabian Nights'—is it the 'Arabian Nights'?—it is already making me feel wise in one thing. It makes me remember the wise saying that 'Brevity is the soul of wit,' and I am going to profit by it by cutting myself short, with the promised benediction.

"Here it is: go on with your splendid work, and good luck to you." (Applause).

ELECTED MEMBER

At the conclusion of his speech, the Hon. Dr. Kotewall was unanimously elected a member of the Y's Men's Club. The nomination met with hearty applause.

Club members then gave a vociferous rendering of their "yell" (rah, rah, rah, ray, ray, ray—repeated three times) ending up with "guests, guests, guests!"

This brought the happy function to a close and a little later the gathering dispersed.

TWO DAYS' PROGRAMME

Yesterday morning divine service was attended at the Chinese Y.M.C.A. at No. 38c Bonham Road. Mr. Edward H. Lockwood was the speaker. At 10.45 a.m. a meeting was held, with reports from all clubs in the district, followed by discussions. At noon the delegates were taken on a motor tour, lunching at Castle Peak. A discussion meeting was held at the Chinese Merchant's Club last night.

To-day's proceedings begin with a meeting at the Chinese Y.M.C.A., Bridges Street. Professor Hsu Ti-shan will speak on the Y.M.C.A. and Y's Men Club, and at 11 a.m. there will follow a discussion on Club problems. The President and Directors of the Y.M.C.A. will be hosts at luncheon, and at 3 p.m. the visitors will go to the residence of Y'sman H.S. Mok, No. 41a Conduit Road, for tea and the closing business meeting.

At 8 p.m. the District Governor, Dr. Woo, will give a farewell dinner at the Chinese Merchant's Club, 5th Floor, China Building.

Majesty's gracious permission named by the Port of London Authority 'King's Reach.' Chairman:—The Right Honourable Lord Ritchie of Dundee, May 1935."

Mr. Thomas Wiles, vice-chairman of the P.L.A., proposed a vote of thanks to Lady Ritchie and congratulated her on having given to the only reach of the Thames without a name at last, and a name of which they might all be proud.

Among those present at the ceremony were Sir Hamilton Benn, Sir Alfred Baker, Sir Arthur Cory Wright, Mr. C. W. Hodge, Admiral A. S. Hotham, Sir Edwin Cooper, Mr. C. L. J. Dorman, Sir David Owen, Mr. J. D. Ritchie, Mr. P. N. Layton, Commander E. C. Shankland, Mr. F. H. White, and Mr. A. E. Wilkey.

"KING'S REACH"

River Memorial Of Silver Jubilee

FROM WESTMINSTER TO LONDON BRIDGE

London, July 18.

A granite panel with bronze supporting figures, erected by the Port of London Authority on the Thames Embankment opposite Temple Gardens to commemorate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the accession of the late King George, was unveiled yesterday morning by Lady Ritchie of Dundee.

Until last year the reach of the Thames between London Bridge and Westminster Bridge was without a distinguishing name. Elsewhere the river had its Greenwich Reach and Chelsea Reach, a Gallions Reach, a Fiddlers' Reach, and a Bugbys' Reach, said to derive its name from a market-gardener who at some time shovelled his refuse into the stream. On the occasion of the Silver Jubilee, the P.L.A., with the permission of King George, made good an omission by describing the unnamed stretch as "King's Reach," and the panel which yesterday's ceremony revealed boldly records the name so that it may be read by all who pass.

Lord Ritchie, chairman of the Authority, with Lady Ritchie and a party of guests, joined the ss. Katherine at Tower Bridge shortly before mid-day and proceeded by river to the Water Gate Arch, where a floating platform had been moored below the memorial. The company assembled on the platform.

KING EDWARD'S MESSAGE

Lord Ritchie then said that it would be a source of gratification to everyone present to know that King Edward, having been informed of the ceremony which was to take place, had sent him the following message:—

"I sincerely appreciate the loyal assurances which you have conveyed to me on behalf of the Port of London Authority on the occasion of the unveiling of the memorial naming the 'King's Reach.' I am indeed glad to think that the Reach will always be associated with the memory of my beloved father."

The feeling uppermost in the minds of all of them that day, Lord Ritchie continued, would be one of deep sorrow that the beloved Sovereign, the twenty-fifth anniversary of whose reign that panel commemorated, had been taken from them. The idea of naming that reach of the river "King's Reach" was conceived and King George's gracious permission granted more than a year ago, when the whole country was showing its eagerness to do him honour, and when all were hoping that he would be spared to them for many more years. They had hoped that ceremony would have taken place in happier circumstances and in a more appropriate manner, but that was not to be, and they had therefore to content themselves with a more domestic ceremony.

There were three individuals, Lord Ritchie added, to whom they were especially indebted, Mr. A. G. Linney, the editor of the "P. L. A. Monthly," who conceived the idea of commemorating King George's Silver Jubilee in that way, and whose untimely death a few weeks ago they all deeply deplored; Sir Edwin Cooper, A.R.A., who designed what he thought everyone would agree was a very beautiful panel; and Mr. C. L. J. Dorman, who had executed the design with such skill. They were also indebted to the Lord Mayor, the Home Office, the Admiralty, the London County Council, and the Westminster City Council, to whom they had to apply for leave before they were able to erect the panel, and all of whom showed their readiness to give every assistance.

PANEL UNVEILED

Lady Ritchie pulled the cord which released the Port of London flag veiling the memorial. When the panel had been uncovered it was seen that on the reverse side facing the river the granite block bore the simple inscription "MCMXV. King's Reach, MCMXXXV." On the other side, fronting to the Embankment, the inscription reads: "In commemoration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Accession of his Majesty King George V. this reach of the river between London Bridge and Westminster Bridge was with his

Case Of Indian Cricketer

PUZZLING REPORTS

London, July 15.

The case of L. Amarnath, the Indian cricketer who was sent home last month as a "disciplinary measure," has caused some confusion. Early yesterday a report from New Delhi said that Amarnath had been reinstated at the request of the Nawab of Bhopal, and was leaving Bombay by air to-morrow to rejoin the All-India team in England in time for the second Test match, which begins in Manchester on July 25. Then, last night, came the following Press Association telegram from Bombay.

Following the reports that at the request of the Nawab of Bhopal Amarnath, the Indian Test cricketer, would return to England immediately by air, the Nawab, through his private secretary in Bhopal, has made the following statement:—

The president of the Indian Cricket Board of Control wishes to lose no time in informing all concerned that the announcement regarding Amarnath's return to England is wholly unauthorised and premature. No decision has yet been made by the board or the president. The case is still under consideration by the board and any decision taken will be announced in due course if necessary.

The Nawab was surprised to-night while listening to a wireless programme from England to hear that owing to his intervention Amarnath was returning to England immediately by air.

A NEW DEVELOPMENT

Meanwhile in London the All-India captain, the Maharaj Kumar of Vizianagram, and Major Ricketts, an official of the team, stated that they had received no intimation on the subject from official quarters in India. It is, however, understood that Major J. Brittain-Jones, the team manager, yesterday received a cable on Amarnath's position from the Indian Board of Control. This might explain the following statement, issued by Major Ricketts under the direction of the captain, shortly before midnight:

Up to late to-night neither I nor the captain had received intimation of the return of Amarnath, and I am credited with the statement in an evening newspaper that such action by the Board of Control in India amounts to vote of no-confidence by the Board in the captain and the manager of the team. This is an inaccuracy, as no such statement was made by me. My remarks were confined only to the fact that the captain had received no cable from India and was therefore unable to comment on the subject.

Fresh information, however, reveals the fact that the Board, while commending the captain for the action taken, has appealed to the captain and the manager on Amarnath's behalf. It appears that the player has recognised his offence and is willing to offer public apologies to the captain and the manager for his misconduct and has solicited their indulgence.

It should be understood that the captain was under the painful necessity of taking the action he did and that he was bound by virtue of his position to preserve a dignified silence in the face of all press antagonism at the time. The captain, I know, will be delighted to let bygones be bygones and accede to the Board's request, as he is extremely broad-minded and bears no personal grievance against the player concerned.

No good purpose will be served by reopening the controversy, but I do wish it to be known that the Maharaj Kumar of Vizianagram, in spite of his action, is completely willing to receive back the player in question now that the effect of his necessary disciplinary action has been felt.

The heart of a good cocktail.
